

Floral Green Wim Cass is a Druid Wood Elf from unknown places. There is little to no facts known about where he is from or where he lives since throughout his 1800 years of life, he has changed many habitats and lived many lives. Despite that, his personality at its core remained the same, unbroken and loyal to his ideas. His story is quite sorrowful and revolves around Wim's deep connection with nature. Being raised by his grandmother, he was taught how to use magic and talk to nature. His only fear as a child was dogs, or at least that's what he said to hide his deep fears of almost everything, which is ironic since he seems like the last person who should fear dogs. But all of this is a past; after mastering magic and connecting to nature, he used his power to fight his fears. At some point in his life (unknown year), his grandma passed away, which was a turning point for him. He felt lonely and abandoned; the only person he knew had passed away. This was the start of his life circle, a pain that he would go through many times in his life. He worked for centuries to master his magic and connect with nature. Slowly, his body went through a transformation and lost all perception of physical pain, yet he understood everyone like no one. Despite always being numb, he felt everyone's pain with his soul. Like a tree's root system, he was interlinked with everyone, so despite not having physical pain, he was the one who suffered the most. From the passing of his grandmother to this day, he has gone through many lives and has seen the death of all of his friends. So he spends most of his days reminiscing about people he can't see and past he can't go back to. Despite that, he is usually whimsical and tries to put a smile on everyone's face. His interconnection with nature works as a means of meditation. So he tries to help himself by not thinking of the deaths of thousands of his friends by having a profound relationship with nature. He is a pacifist, so his main goal is to bring peace to the world. His unbroken idea of kindness consists of the belief that there is kindness in every living thing and that evil should be destroyed no matter what. As I already said, he had fears as a child, which he still has; he thinks that he is too weak to change the world and lives in constant feelings of failure, fear, and melancholy. Like nature, his personality changes all the time and is unpredictable. Happiness and melancholy take turns. He loves to linger in the water and watch the sky; his favorite color is blue, and he loves space as it's unknown to him. He is agile, rather skinny, and loves to change appearances. Lastly, his main goal is to find inner peace and create a peaceful world; thus, he thinks like a guardian angel and a great support.
